Bank of America Park in Los Angeles is an inspiration due to natural exposure of sunlight on both levels through a central oculus.

Kinkana (Costa Rica) was an inspiration because of the radial pattern of the gardens.

Charleston County Park was an inspiration because of the playful design that incorporated dog-related graphics into the design.

The above renderings of the skate park shows the playful nature of the space.